

```
import cv2
from tkinter import Tk
from tkinter.filedialog import askopenfilename

Hide the Tkinter root window
Tk().withdraw()

Open file dialog to select an image
file_path = askopenfilename( title="Open an Image",
    filetypes=[("Image Files", "*.jpg *.jpeg *.png *.bmp *.tif")]
)

Check if an image was selected
if file_path:
    # Read the image
    image = cv2.imread(file_path)

    # Display the image
    cv2.imshow("Selected Image", image)

    print("Press any key to close the image window...")

    # Wait indefinitely until a key is pressed
    cv2.waitKey(0)

    # Close all OpenCV windows
    cv2.destroyAllWindows()
else:
    print("No image selected.")
```